

GRISWOLD SPECIAL CARE

A Tradition of Homecare Excellence

Griswold Special Care treats clients just like family through loving care

Griswold Special Care provides seniors an alternative to senior care facilities. Instead of having to move to a retirement or nursing home, seniors can choose to stay in the comfort of their own home.

Griswold Special Care was founded by a minister's wife, Dr. Jean Griswold, who dedicated her life to helping others. Throughout the years Dr. Griswold and Griswold Special Care have received numerous regional and national awards and honors for outstanding service, including 25 for excellence, and have been featured on television and in prestigious magazines.

Adhering to their philosophy, "Griswold Special Care makes every reasonable effort to refer the highest quality caregivers at the lowest possible cost for home care services to the client. Professional caregivers are expertly screened before referral. Our frequent contact and follow-up with each client helps maintain our desired quality and level of home care." With that level of care, Griswold Special Care has become the leader in home health care.

Griswold's caregivers provide non-medical home health care, including personal home care services, homemaking care services, personal assistance and supportive care, and senior companion services, to seniors who want to remain independent.

People like retired geophysicist, Lorenz Shock, 91, who needs a little help maintaining chores around the house and with daily activities, but do not require medical attention. For the past year and a half he has been under the loving care of Mary Mutia, 53. "Mr. Shock and I are like family," says Mary, summing up their relationship.

Mary, a second generation caregiver, used to help her mom with her clients while growing up and grew to love the line of work. She is a testament to the caliber of caregivers hired by Griswold Special Care – caring, responsible and all around delightful.

Before becoming a client of Griswold Special Care, Mr. Shock was constantly in and out of the hospital every two to three weeks, according to his family. Since being under Mary's care, he has not been hospitalized once!

In addition to providing Mr. Shock dedicated 24-hour care, Monday through Friday, Mary also provides his family with peace of mind. With the family's extensive travel schedule, it is reassuring to know that someone dependable is there to help in case of an emergency.
